

Beginning November 2, 2016, you will see changes in EASi for commercial applications due to an upgrade in technology. With these changes, producers will be able to:

1. Use a single login to access EASi;
2. Reset a forgotten password;
3. Retract commercial applications online; and
4. Search both private passenger and commercial applications in the same search facility.

The website for EASi 1.0 (Commercial Applications) appears like this now:

On November 2, 2016, the upgraded website moves EASi 1.0 to the EASi 2.0 location. You will be able to access Commercial EASi at the EASi 2.0 link for the five states listed there.

Click on the link for EASi 2.0 and log in. You will see a dropdown box.

Click on the dropdown box and select Commercial for your state.

Access Level: Producer

Select Mechanism: CT - Commercial
CT - Private Passenger

- Create New Quote or Application
- View Previous Quotes or Applications
- Retract an Application

Once you have selected Commercial, proceed as you normally would. Commercial applications must be manually rated.

Important Note: Beginning November 2, 2016, you will not be able to access applications that are still “In Process” – those applications that have not been completed and printed on EASi 1.0. You will need to re-enter them on the new EASi 2.0 website or submit them using the paper application form available to you on the Plan’s web page.

You will have 120 days to view and or print applications which are listed as “Submitted” or “Assigned” on the EASi 1.0 website.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL <https://easilegacy.aipso.com/appSearch.aspx>. The page title is "EASi - Application Search". The interface includes a search bar with "Days Back" set to 120 and a "Search" button. A table displays application records with columns for Reference Number, Mechanism, Name, Status, Requested Effective Date, and Assigned Company. Two green arrows point to the "Assigned Company" column for the first two rows.
